EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

Please replace the title with the following:

Network Router using embedded and external memory based on packet destination

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art does not provide for, nor suggests providing for a router which contains both an embedded memory and an external memory and stores an incoming packet based on the destination. An incoming packet is received from a first interface connected to an external network (i.e. WAN). The control unit of the routing component examines the packet and accesses a forwarding table to determine a network destination for the data received from the network. Based on this network destination, if the destination device is located out of the first interface (i.e. the packet is to be routed back out of the first network interface that it was received upon), the packet is to be stored in external memory. If the destination device requires that the routing component to forward the packet to a second routing component via a crossbar switch, then the routing component stores the packet in embedded RAM memory located on the routing component ASIC chip.
3. The closest prior art of record is Bass. Bass discloses storing inbound and outbound data using internal S-RAMs and external memory blocks based on the direction the data is going. Bass does not disclose that the control unit is able to determine, based on the destination of whether the packet received over the network interface is to be sent back over the network interface and is to be stored in external memory, Rather the data only flows in one direction, from the network interface to the internal switching elements and vice versa. This is a novel improvement over the system of Bass.

Art Unit: 2146

4. For these reasons in conjunction with the other limitations of the independent claims, and the decision on Appeal rendered by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences dated May 23, 2008, puts this case in condition for allowance.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
